EC launches infringement procedures against six Member States

In the area of regulated professions

Madrid, 18.06.2015, 18:13 Time

USPA NEWS - The European Commission is launching infringement procedures against Austria, Cyprus, Germany, Malta, Poland and Spain on the grounds that their national rules include excessive and unjustified obstacles in the area of professional services.

The Commission considers that requirements imposed on certain service providers in these Member States run counter to the Services Directive. Elżbieta Bieda, European Commissioner for Internal Market, Industry, Entrepreneurship and SMEs, said that "freedom to provide services is one of the foundations of the single market. There are still barriers in a number of Member States preventing companies and individuals from providing their services freely across the EU – be it restrictions on legal form and shareholding, professional qualification requirements, or fixed tariffs."

"Today I am not just waving a yellow card. I am sending a message of opportunity: a dynamic single market for professional services will lead to a more competitive European economy for the benefit of all of us," she added. Excessive shareholding requirements – such as the requirement that the professionals should hold 100% of the voting rights and capital in a company, or should have its corporate seat in a given jurisdiction – can make a second establishment or cross-border provision of services in these Member States difficult. Compulsory minimum tariffs are not necessary in order to ensure high-quality services of either domestic or foreign services providers, whilst depriving consumers of more competitively priced services.

The Commission therefore requests these Member States to adapt their rules governing such shareholding requirements and prohibitions of multidisciplinary practices (for architects and engineers in Austria, Cyprus and Malta for patent agents in Austria) as well as repeal minimum compulsory tariffs (for procuradores in Spain, architects, engineers and tax advisors in Germany, patent agents in Poland and veterinarians in Austria). In Spain, the Commission is also concerned about existing rules declaring certain activities of procuradores incompatible with those of lawyers.
